INTRODUCTION

2 The undersigned counsel, on behalf of the certified classes in certain pending actions
3 under the Telephone Consumer Protection Act, 47 U.S.C § 227 (“TCPA”), hereby submits this 4 Objection to the Release in the proposed class settlement in this Action. See Stipulation and 5 Agreement of Class Action Settlement and Release (Dkt. No. 100). Counsel is concerned that the 6 scope of the Release may be confusing and respectfully requests that the Court either direct the 7 parties to confirm that TCPA claims are not subject to the Release or, in the alternative, deny 8 preliminary approval of the proposed settlement.

BACKGROUND

10 Over the past several years, I have served as one of class counsel in a series of TCPA class
11 action lawsuits against Wells Fargo. Court-approved nationwide class settlements in five actions
12 total over $78.5 million in cash for affected consumers. Cross v. Wells Fargo Bank N.A., Case
13 No.: 1:15-cv-01270-RWS (N.D. Ga.); Markos v. Wells Fargo Bank, N.A., Case No. 1:15-cv-
14 01156 (N.D. Ga.); Luster v. Wells Fargo Bank, N.A., Case No. 1:15-cv-01058 (N.D. Ga.);
15 Franklin v. Wells Fargo Bank N.A., Case No.: 14-cv-2349 (S.D. Cal.); Prather v. Wells Fargo
16 Bank, N.A., Case No. 1:15-cv-04231 (N.D. Ga.). Although the Luster and Prather settlements
17 received preliminary approval in February 2017, the notice and claims-filing period in those cases 18 are ongoing.

19 In addition, I serve as co-counsel in three pending TCPA cases against Wells Fargo, 20 including one in this District. Shadid v. Wells Fargo Bank, N.A., Case No. 3:17-cv-01079 (N.D.
21 Cal.); Bacon v. Wells Fargo Bank, N.A., Case No. 1:17-cv-01505 (N.D. Ga.); Perez v. Wells
22 Fargo Bank, N.A., Case No. 17-cv-424 (S.D. Cal.). Collectively, these TCPA Actions cover
23 Wells Fargo’s various lines of business.

24 On April 20, 2017, the parties in this Action filed a Stipulation and Agreement of Class
25 Action Settlement and Release (Dkt. No. 100). Section 2.47 states:

26 “Released Claims” means, to the fullest extent permitted by law or 27 equity, any and all claims and causes of action of every nature and 28 description, whether known or Unknown, whether arising under federal, state, common or foreign law, or any other law, rule, or regulation, that were asserted, could have been asserted, or that

1 arise out of the same transactions or occurrences as the claims that 2 were asserted, in the Action, commensurate with the res judicata
3 effect at the conclusion of the litigation. For the avoidance of doubt, 4 the Released Claims encompass claims and causes of action of every nature and description arising from the authorized or 5 unauthorized enrollment in Identity Theft Protection services by 6 members of the Settlement Class.

7 Shortly thereafter, I reached out to counsel for Wells Fargo to confirm that the Release
8 does not impact TCPA claims in any way. Specifically, the claims in the TCPA Actions arise out 9 of the use of an “automatic telephone dialing system” or an “artificial or prerecorded voice”
10 within the meaning of 47 U.S.C. § 227—not “out of the same transactions or occurrences as the 11 claims that were asserted in the Action.” Therefore, the Release in this Action should not, and 12 does not, release any TCPA claims. But, to clarify that fact, we requested that the parties amend 13 the Release by adding:

14 Notwithstanding the foregoing, no TCPA claims or other claims based on the use 15 of an automatic telephone dialing system or an artificial or prerecorded voice are 16 released by this Agreement.

17 I met and conferred with Wells Fargo’s counsel in good faith. Although Wells Fargo’s 18 counsel has advised me that Wells Fargo does not intend to assert the Release in this Action as a 19 defense in any of the pending TCPA Actions, Wells Fargo has not agreed to amend the Release to 20 avoid confusion.

21 ARGUMENT

22 Confirming that the Release does not include TCPA claims is imperative for three 23 reasons.

24 First, the claims in this Action do not arise from the same operative nucleus of facts as 25 TCPA claims. The class action complaint is completely devoid of any cause of action under the 26 TCPA. Moreover, there are not any allegations of any kind regarding telephone calls. There is 27 no evidence whatsoever that the parties in this Action intended to release TCPA claims. Under 28 these circumstances, any reading of the Release as including TCPA claims would be improper.
See, e.g., Hesse v. Sprint Corp., 598 F.3d 581, 590 (9th Cir. 2010) (“A settlement agreement may preclude a party from bringing a related claim in the future . . . but only where the released claim is ‘based on the identical factual predicate as that underlying the claims in the settlement class

1 action.”) (quoting Williams v. Boeing Co., 517 F.3d 1120, 1133 (9th Cir 2008)); Hendricks v.
2 Starkist Co., No. 13-cv-729, 2016 WL 692739, at * (N.D. Cal. Feb. 19, 2016) (denying final 3 approval, where the release “does not track the breadth of allegations in the complaint, instead 4 releasing claims under antitrust laws mentioned nowhere in the complaint”); Lovig v. Sears, 5 Roebuck & Co., No. 11-cv-756, 2014 WL 8252583, at *2 (C.D. Cal. Dec. 9, 2014) (denying 6 preliminary approval where “[t]he factual basis for the claims of the release . . . impermissibility
7 extends beyond the factual predicate of the operative complaint”); Willner v. Manpower Inc., No.
8 11-cv-02846, 2014 WL 4370694, at *8 (N.D. Cal. Sept. 3, 2014) (same, where the release “could 9 capture claims that go beyond the scope of the allegations in the operative complaint”); see also 10 Northern District of California Procedural Guidance for Class Action Settlements, available at 11 <http://www.cand.uscourts.gov/ClassActionSettlementGuidance> (requiring that preliminary 12 approval motions identify “[a]ny differences between the claims to be released and the claims set 13 out in the operative complaint”).

14 Second, there is overlap between the classes and proposed classes in the TCPA Actions, 15 and the proposed class in this Action. Because Wells Fargo has a general practice of making
16 automated calls to all persons with Wells Fargo accounts, the classes in the TCPA Actions 17 include an unknown number of people with “fake accounts” who received such calls. Therefore, 18 there is a substantial potential for confusion because the classes overlap, even though their claims 19 do not.

20 Third, if this settlement is preliminarily approved, the notice and claim-filing period in 21 this Action will overlap with the Luster and Prather notice and claim-filing periods. Class 22 members in each settlement have a right to know which claims are—and are not—included, and 23 which are—and are not—released. If the notices in this Action do not clearly specify the scope of 24 the Release, there is a strong potential that class members will be confused. Such confusion 25 could significantly prejudice class members in all actions. For example, class members might 26 refrain from filing claims in one settlement if they believe a different settlement covered their 27 claims. And, any individual or opt-out class members who pursue their own actions will be 28 particularly susceptible to confusion and prejudice.
